

I think the No Call List has been wonderful. The unsolicited sales calls are the most annoying things. I also think those companies prey on senior citizens. I know of a woman with early Alzheimer's who ordered $500 worth of magazines when some company called her. I don't believe that is right. The calls are a real nuisance and I don't want to see changes to the list by any company to weaken it.

Thank you for your consideration.